

Summer 2022 Internship Program

EHDD is a national leader in design, architecture, and sustainability with exceptional expertise in libraries and education facilities, buildings for science, and housing, as well as museums, aquariums, and zoos. In our rich, 75-year history, we have developed an award-winning practice that integrates planning, technology, and the user experience. We work not from preconceived ideas, but from a belief in the primacy of the user and in an intensive collaboration with clients and consultants. We are good listeners who foster a working environment of mutual respect and amiability.

EHDD takes pride in its people and considers itself a teaching office. We are committed to giving interns a meaningful variety of experiences that provide exposure to the many different aspects of the profession. Interns work as an active member of a project team and are encouraged to attend meetings and site visits. They will participate in the iterative process as we synthesize site context, sustainability, program, and other criteria into a timeless design. During the course of the internship they are also encouraged to give a lunchtime presentation to the office on a topic of interest. EHDD has many fantastic resources, both in its library and its network. We are looking for interns that are enthusiastic, dedicated and passionate about architecture and sustainability.

The summer 2022 Internship is a paid full-time internship, with flexible start and end dates between May and September and available in both San Francisco and Seattle offices. In person attendance will be required for the duration of the internship pending no changes to COVID related protocols for on site attendance, in which case we would switch to hybrid or fully remote.

- Good at communicating ideas and concepts
